The screenshot shows the 'Social Groups' interface in Football Manager 2019. The top navigation bar includes 'Overview', 'Hierarchy', 'Social Groups', 'Happiness', and 'Team Meeting'. The main content is divided into four social groups:

- Core Social Group: This group is made up of players who are generally balanced and who have been at the club for similar lengths of time. It includes players: 9 Deeney, 1 Gomes, 8 Cleverley, 15 Cathcart, 14 Chalobah, 5 Prodl, 23 Watson, 2 Janmaat, 3 Britos, and 37 Pereyra.
- Secondary Social Group A: This group is made up of players who mostly speak French and who have been at the club for roughly the same length of time as each other. It includes players: 29 Capoue, 16 Doucoure, and 27 Kabasele.
- Secondary Social Group B: This group is made up of players who are of a similar age and are mostly Greek. It includes players: 25 Holebas, 13 Karnezis, and 20 Zarate.
- Others: These players don't currently fit into any particular social group. This may be because they're new to the club or simply that they aren't gelling with the rest of the squad. It includes players: 10 Richarlison, 30 Wague, 12 Zeegelaar, 28 Carrillo, 21 Femenia, 19 Hughes, and 18 Gray.

On the right side, there is a 'JOÃO PEDRO SOUSA'S FEEDBACK' section with the following text:

- + The core group are generally content and should have little reason for complaint with the way things are going.
- + Secondary Group A are currently content and should have little reason for complaint with the way things are going.
- + Secondary Group B are currently content and should have little reason for complaint with the way things are going.
- The following are players who have been scouted, are recommended and are likely to fit in with the rest of your squad potentially embedding within an existing social group: Nicolas Garmendia, Andrija Balic, Oğuzhan Özyakup, Filip Vasko and Franco Cervi.

The bottom right corner features the 'Work In Progress' logo and the 'SPORTS INTERACTIVE' logo.
